Memorial Day

Memorial Day is a federal U. S. holiday observed on the last Monday in May to mourn and honor those who paid the ultimate sacrifice in war or peacetime. Following the Civil War, communities began decorating graves of the dead. General John A. Logan officially proclaimed the first national Decoration Day on May 30, 1868.

The day emphasizes national unity in respecting the lives lost, with traditions including visiting cemeteries, flying flags at half-staff until noon, and observing a national moment of silence at 3:00 pm. It serves as a moment to connect the past with the present, reflecting on the freedoms secured by military service.

Common misconceptions regarding Memorial Day vs Veterans Day:

Memorial Day honors those who died in service, while Veterans Day (Nov 11th) honors all those who served in the US military.
